

Sale of Stock in Trade of Mr. Thomas Maxwell, A Bankrupt

SALISBURY

TO be SOLD by AUCTION, on the premises, in Oatmeal-Row, by T. RAWLINS, positively without the least reserve, on Tuesday the 19th day of August 1823, and following days, precisely at 11 o'clock each day

The remaining part of the STOCK in TRADE, of Mr. Thomas Maxfield, Linen-Draper, Haberdasher, Hosier, &c. a bankrupt; comprising satins, plain and figured sarsnets, Persians, lace cloaks, silk and cashmere scarfs and shawls, ribbons, French cambrics, muslins, Italian nets; silk and cotton, and worsted hose; gloves, scarlet and coloured cloaks and cloakings, black and coloured silk velvets, green moreen, black and coloured silk handkerchiefs, bombazines, black cambric, floss trimmings, sewing silk and twists, threads, cotton balls, bobbins, velveteens; plain, coloured, and striped gauze; white and striped jeans; stuffs, calamancoes, sheeting, flannels, black crape, silk cords and buttons, silk and cotton ferretings; furniture, stay, and worsted bindings; white and coloured fringe, furniture bordering, cotton and worsted laces, white drill, waistcoatings, shrouds, brown cheese cloths, leather gaiters, round frocks, ready-made clothes, and numerous other articles.

Catalogues to be had on the premises the morning before the sale commences.

Salisbury and Winchester Journal, 11 August 1823