

Evening Advertiser 18th September 1948

The article below is by the standards of 2013 most politically incorrect it has been published here to show how attitudes have changed over the years plus it is of interest to the family historian since it has a list of names of children who either had birthdays or had sent in their milk bottle tops and tin foil for charitable collection.

It is assumed that the article was aimed at children since the column seems to be written by Aunt Joy
