BRADFORD-ON-AVON

BRADFORD-ON-AVON is a parish, market and union town, situated on the Somerset border, on the river Avon and on the Kennet and Avon canal, with a station on the Salisbury, Weymouth and Bath branch of the Great Western railway, 102 miles from London by Road and 100 by railway, 8 south-east from Bath, 3 north-west from Trowbridge, 5 south-west from Melksham, 12 west from Devizes and 12 north from Warminster, in the Western division of the county, hundred and petty sessional division of Bradford, rural deanery of Potterne (Bradford portion), archdeaconry of Wilts and diocese of Salisbury. The town is built within a recess, on the abrupt declivities of the sides of a rocky hill, and the most ancient parts are laid out in a succession of terraces, rising one above another to the very summit of the hill, from one of which, called Tory Rank, the views are very picturesque, and the prospect is extensive and delightfully varied; in the valley below stands the fine old parish church; near to its base, after emerging from between the hills, flows the river Avon, its banks dotted with factories: on the west, and under the side of Grip Hill, is an ancient barn, formerly belonging to the "Grange", or principal farm of the Abbess of Shaftesbury, and possessing one of the finest timbered roofs in the country: on the east is the greater portion of the town, while in the middle distance may be seen the village of Hilperton and the town of Trowbridge, with Westbury Down and the Wiltshire hills in the distance.

Bradford means the "broad ford" over the river, and was inhabited as early as the time of the Roman occupation of this part of the country. The town was a place of some consequence even in the time of the West Saxons, being the site of a monastic House, founded by St Aldhelm in 705, and given to the nunnery at Shaftesbury in 1001. In 954 St Dunstan was elected bishop of Worcester at a synod held in Bradford: the town was privileged to send members to Parliament, but this right was not exercised more than once: a portion of the town still bears the appellation of the Borough of Bradford, but whether it was ever incorporated and had a separate jurisdiction seems to be unknown. The river Avon is here crossed by two bridges, and on one of these, in the centre of the town, is a stone building with a square domical roof, once a chapel, where pilgrims offered at once devotions and alms. Near this, to the west, is the ancient ford by which the town was approached. The other bridge, called Barton Bridge, is lower down the stream, and has four arches.

Bradford is considered to be a very pleasing, exceedingly picturesque and very healthy town, and is well defended from the north and east winds: the Houses are mostly gable-fronted, built with stone, and roofed with the same material. The Streets are generally narrow and irregular, but, in some instances, they have been widened and improved. In 1834 the town was lighted with gas by a company, and on the 15th of July, 1839, the "Bradford Town Improvement Act" received the Royal Assent, but the commissioners appointed under this Act have been superseded under the "Local Government Act, 1894," by an Urban District Council.

In 1902 the Bradford Gas Act was passed, conferring parliamentary powers upon the present company.

Waterworks, the property of the Council, were erected in 1883: the adits, situated at Avoncliff, yield a copious supply of pure spring water, which is pumped thence into a reservoir at the top of the hill between Winsley and Bradford; additional adits have since been driven, and the present supply thereby considerably augmented. An extra filter bed has also been constructed, and the receiving tank enlarged: the town is supplied by gravitation: the cost of the works, opened in October, 1883, was £12,000.

In 1903 a new Sewerage and Sewage Disposal Scheme was carried out; but a part of the works having collapsed in 1904, the works were overhauled in 1906 and adapted to a different system of treatment, and re-started early in 1907.

The church of the Holy Trinity is an ancient edifice in the Norman and Perpendicular styles, consisting of chancel, nave of five bays, north aisle, chapel, south porch and an embattled western tower, with a low spire, containing a clock, 8 bells and chimes: on two of the ancient tombs are the mutilated recumbent figure of a knight in armour, and on the north side a full-length effigy of a lady: there are brasses to the Deverell, Yewe, Shrapnel, Clutterbuck and Horton families: the east window and several others are stained: in 1893 a dwarf stone screen, with wrought iron entrance gates, separating the chancel from the nave, was erected in memory of the Rev. Baldwin Francis Leighton B.A. sometime hon. curate: there are sittings for 637 persons: in the church-yard is another ancient tomb. The register dates from the year 1565. The living is a vicarage, net income £284, with residence, in the gift of the Dean and Chapter of Salisbury, and held since 1836 by the Rev. Sydney Garbett Collisson, who is a surrogate.

Christ Church is an ecclesiastical parish, formed in 1843; the church, at Bearfield, erected in 1840, is in the Perpendicular style, consisting of a chancel, nave, south porch and a western tower with spire containing one bell: the chancel was added from designs by the late Sir G. Gilbert Scott R.A. at a cost of £2,000: the east window and eight others are stained: in 1884 the church was reseated, under the direction of Mr. John Oldrid Scott, architect: an oak screen, separating the chancel from the nave, and an organ chamber were erected in 1891: there are 500 sittings. The register dates from the year 1842. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £296, with residence, in the gift of the vicar of Bradford, and held since 1905 by the Rev. William Henry Start.

There are three Baptist chapels, including one for Particular Baptists, Congregational and Wesleyan Methodist chapels, and a Wesleyan church at Bradford Leigh.

A cemetery of 4a. 8p. In the Holt Road, was formed in 1856 at a cost of £3,000; it has two mortuary chapels, and is under the control of a committee.

The Technical Institute, in Junction Road, erected in 1896 at a cost of £4,000, is a building of stone, comprising physical and chemical laboratories, art room, manual instruction room and a room for instruction in cookery and domestic economy; John Crompton M.A. principal. A large and fully equipped gymnasium was presented in 1901 by Lord Fitzmaurice, who had also been the principal contributor to the institute.

The Town Hall is of Bath stone, in the Elizabethan style, from designs by Thomas Fuller, esq., architect, late of Bath: it includes a magistrates' room and dwellings for the police. The Urban District Council's Offices are also in this building. The Public Baths, in Bridge Street, erected in 1898 at a cost of about £1,200, are under the control of the Urban District Council. The Temperance Hall in Sladesbrook, erected in 1845, will hold 200 persons. The Armoury of the 1st Wilts (E Company) Rifle Volunteers and (K Co) (cyclists) is in Silver Street; this company, embodied in 1860, now numbers about 100 efficient members. The Urban District Fire Brigade consists of a captain and 12 members, with a manual engine. Messrs. George Spencer Moulton and Co Limited also have a fire brigade consisting of workmen of the firm.

Bradford was at one time the central town in the west of England for the manufacture of superfine broad-cloths. This business is known to have been carried on here to some extent in the time of Edward I., and Edward III. invited clothworkers to repair to England out of foreign parts, to whom he granted sundry privileges. Anthony Methuen, the ancestor of the present Lord Methuen, of Corsham House, was the first to improve upon the old mode of cloth-making by introducing into Bradford, in 1740, operatives from Flanders. The industry has now completely died out, and the manufacture of India rubber tyres and India rubber goods generally is gradually becoming the staple trade of the town. The firms of Messrs. George Spencer Moulton and Co Limited and the Sirdar Rubber Co. Limited employ a considerable number of workmen in this trade. There are also two banks, three breweries and two foundries, and several quarries from which good building stone is obtained.

Golf Links were opened at Grip Wood in 1905.

The market day for provisions is Saturday.

The Right Hon. Sir Richard Bethel kt. P.C. afterwards Lord Westbury and Lord Chancellor, was born at Westbury House, in St. Margaret Street, 30 June 1800.

In the Frome Road are two almshouses, one of which, for four poor men, was founded in 1700, by John Hall, esq., whose arms, crest and motto, "Deo et pauperibus," appear over the doorway: this building was entirely restored in 1891-3, by the late H. Moulton, esq., who, by his will, further endowed it with a sum of £1,000: each inmate receives 5s. per week. The other almshouse, for poor old women, was rebuilt in 1868 from designs by C.S. Adye, esq., architect, and added to in 1878: this charity is endowed with lands once belonging to the monastery of Shaftesbury; the patronage is with the lord of the manor, and the building has been restored to its original size, and is occupied by four old women, each receiving 4s. weekly. The charities for distribution amount to £64 8s.

John Curl, of Turleigh, by will dated 1703, gave £30 yearly out of the rents of his estate at Churton to be distributed on the feast of St. Thomas to 120 poor persons of Bradford, Winsley, Leigh and Woolley, but at present (1907) the rent barely covers expenses; Mrs. Elizabeth Tugwell left in 1799 £100 stock, the interest to be given to 40 old and infirm persons; Samuel Cam left in 1792 £100 stock, the interest to be given to the poor in bread; Mrs. Charlotte Amelia Beaven left £50, the interest to be given in bread on Christmas Day; Edward Thresher left £100 stock, which is now increased to £200; John Strawbridge left £400 in Consols, the interest of these charities to be given to the poor in crowns and half-crowns.

There are the remains of many ancient edifices, both of a private and also of an ecclesiastical character, in and about the town. Of these the Saxon church is the most interesting; the late Professor E. A. Freeman, in his "English Towns and Districts", regards it as "probably the only perfect surviving church of its kind in England, if not in Europe," and it is believed to be the ecclesiola, or little church, attached to the monastery founded by St. Adhelm, and mentioned by William of Malmesbury as standing in his time, A.D. 1120, although the monastery has long ceased to exist: it owes its discovery to the archaeological intelligence of the late vicar, the Rev. Canon Wm. Henry Rich-Jones M.A. who, standing on Tory Rank about 1858 and looking down on the roofs of the town, observed that the outline of the three roofs of a very old building was of an ecclesiastical character, and that the roofs were apparently those of the chancel, nave and porch of a church; at that time the building was so surrounded by other structures and by the accumulation of the dirt of centuries, to the height in some places of six feet above the foundations, that it was difficult to form an accurate judgment on the subject: the building has since been purchased and vested in trustees, of whom Sir Charles P. Hobhouse bart. is chairman, and the surrounding obstructions having been cleared away, the proportions of the building are now fairly displayed: the existing porch is on the north side, but there appears to have been a similar one on the south: the workmanship is of rude character; the most striking feature is the great height of the building as compared with its length and breadth: the nave is 25 feet by 13, and 25 high; the chancel, 13 feet by 10, and 18 feet high, and the porch 10 feet square and 15 feet high; and the opening from the chancel to the nave is rather a doorway than an arch, being 2 feet wide and 8 feet high: the church has now been so far restored as to admit of services being held in it.

The Hermitage or Tory Chapel stands on Tory Rank, the highest part of the town, and was restored in 1869 by the late T.B. Saunders, esq., Of the Priory, and opened for public worship in 1871: this building is mentioned by Leland in his "Itinerary" in 1533, and it is also mentioned by Aubrey, as follows:- "On the top of the north hill, above Mr. Methwyn's, is the finest hermitage I have seen in England, several rooms and a very neat chapel of freestone." The building is cruciform, and almost immediately above the Lady Well, from which circumstance it has now been called St. Mary's Chapel: the east window and another in the south porch are stained.

The Chantry, or Chantry House, now the residence of Dr. Beddoe, LL.D., F.R.S. was founded by Thomas Horton de Iford, a wealthy clothier, early in the 16th century and added to in the 17th century from the designs of Inigo Jones. The Hall, a fine example of the Jacobean style, dates from the early part of the 17th century, and became by marriage the property of the Pierrponts, earls and dukes of Kingston, whence it was formerly known as Kingston House, and for some time the residence of the notorious Duchess of Kingston (d. 1773): Evelyn, and Duke of Kingston dying without issue, this property descended to his sister Frances, whose son Charles, on acceding to the estates, in 1773, was created Earl Mansvers. The mansion, which had been much neglected and used as a wool-store, was purchased in 1848 by the late S. Moulton, esq., J.P. by whom it was completely restored. The south front was reproduced as the model of an English country House at the Paris Exhibition of 1900. It is now the residence of John Moulton, esq., J.P. Leigh House is the seat of Lord Fitzmaurice J.P.: the mansion, pleasantly situated, stands in a park and grounds of 18 acres.

The Priory, formerly the residence of the Methuen family, is now the residence of Mrs. Collett: part of the mansion was built in the 15th century.

Bearfield House, standing in a park of about 60 acres, is the residence of Gerald A. R. FitzGerald, esq.,

Frankleigh House is the seat of the Rev. the Hon. Canon Sidney Meade J.P.; the mansion, built about the time of James I. stands in a park and grounds of about 220 acres.

Northleigh is the seat of George L. Lopes, esq., D.L., J.P.; the mansion stands in a park and grounds of about 40 acres; and Woodleigh, standing in a park of 18 acres, is the residence of Edward Mallinson, J.P.

Sir Charles Parry Hobhouse, bart. of Monkton Farleigh, is lord of the manor.

The principal landowners are Percy Kendall Stothert, esq., The Rev. The Hon. Canon Sidney Meade, John Moulton, esq., J.P. and George Llewellyn Palmer, esq., of Lackham. The soil is oolitic; subsoil, clay. The chief crops are wheat and grass.

The whole parish originally covered 10,036 acres, but the County Council, about 1895, divided it into six portions, viz.: Bradford Urban and Without, Holt, Limpley Stoke, South Wraxall and Winsley; the area of Bradford-on-Avon civil parish is 2,005 acres; rateable value is £20,253; the population in 1901 was 4,514. The population of the ecclesiastical parish of Holy Trinity in 1901 was 3,267, and of Christ Church, 1,527.

Atworth, formerly a tithing, was, by an order of the Local Government Board, dated 19th December, 1884, amalgamated with Great and Little Chalfield and Cottles, to form the civil parish of Atworth, and will be found under the heading of Atworth.

Bradford Leigh, Woolley and Trowle are tithings.

South Wraxall, a tithing, has been formed into a separate parish, and will be found under the heading of South Wraxall. Holt, another separate parish, will be found under Holt.

Winsley and Limpley Stoke are two civil parishes, and will be found under the headings of Winsley and Limpley Stoke. Turleigh is a hamlet in Winsley.

Parish Clerk, Holy Trinity, Tom Moore, 26 Church Street

Clerk and Sexton, Christ Church, Thomas White, 2 Mount Pleasant.
